Fifty years after MLK's death, a minority politics scholar assesses black progress in the US based on poverty, jobs and wealth. In some ways, .

Among racial and ethnic groups, African Americans had the highest poverty rate, percent, followed by Hispanics at percent and whites at percent. Black Americans born poor are much less likely to move up the income ladder than those in other racial groups, especially whites. Why?.

The black middle class is talking of values and civility as many Americans of colour continue to languish in poverty. The data below reflect the national averages for essential poverty and wellbeing Percentage of African Americans who fell below the poverty line in This statistic shows the percentage of black families in the U.S. who live below the poverty level from to In , percent of all black families in.

Poverty rates for Black families vary based on the family type. While 23% of all Black families live below the poverty level only 8% of Black married couple. More than 40 million Americans live below the poverty line - these haunting photos by Matt Black capture life below the poverty line. 33% of black children (million). In the 10 most populated states, rates of child poverty among black children range from 29% in California and Florida to 47%.

The poverty that poor African Americans experience is often different from the poverty of poor whites. It's more isolating and concentrated.
